

JASON KOHARIK

Jason Koharik is a self-taught artist and craftsman whose methods and works are always evolving. He was born and raised in Bedford, Ohio. Moving to Los Angeles, California at age 19. He quickly became involved in commercial production where he began to implement his skills as an artist and designer working on film sets and wardrobe design, ultimately transitioning to home and decor for the interior design industry. He now works from his 7000 square foot studio and showroom in Glassell Park, relying on timeless methods to design and handcraft sophisticated lines of lighting, furniture, art, and sculpture.
