In the past 15 years, Jason Miller has emerged as one of the most talented and sought after designer working in the United States. Elevating everyday components of contemporary American culture, Miller produces an innovative, ever-expanding collection of lighting fixtures, furniture, household products, and interior spaces.

