

KATHERINE GRAY

Katherine Gray is an American glass designer who creates fluid, dreamlike objects with her beloved medium. Drawing on the extensive lineage of fine glassblowing whilst infusing it with her personal imprimatur, Gray's collections including vases, candelabras and goblets. According to her leitmotif of 'disappearance' many of her pieces – both functional and non-functional - are designed to fit inside one another, a play on the material's intrinsic transparent quality.
