

MARIO MARENCO

Mario Marengo was born in 1933. He studied architecture in Naples and won research grants for Stockholm and Chicago. In 1960 he opened in Rome his own atelier of architecture and design named Studio DEGW in Rome. During his career as an architect, he taught at the University of Sydney and worked with companies such as B&B, Arflex and Poltrona Frau. Mario Marengo is also known for his appearances on TV but his career as an actor and humorist has never overshadowed his predisposition for design.
