

TRUEING

Josh Metersky and Aiden Bowman are the Brooklyn-based designers behind Trueing, a context-driven product design studio, known for its eclectic lighting, furniture and other objects. Trueing is very much the result of a shared skill set, shaped by the duos' backgrounds in engineering design and art history.

