

VERONESE

Established in 1931 at the height of the Art Deco period, The House of Veronese is a Paris based design house that blends together instinctively French design with Murano glass craftsmanship. The Veronese collections include nine decades of Murano glass lighting designs, mirrors and decorative objects that are timeless and distinct. Each design tells its own unique story, which can be traced back to ancient times when glassmakers first began their craft. By bringing together the world of French design heritage and Murano glass artistry, Veronese has succeeded to bring a new perspective to this age-old craft, forever demonstrating its vitality and marvel.
